PRIME TECHNICAL SERVICES

DENVER, CO

ACCOUNT MANAGER

ROLE OVERVIEW

We pride ourselves in being a sales company first and are always looking to build out our sales team!

The Account Management role is one of our most important positions at Prime Tech. Our Account Managers know that the game speeds up with added responsibility.

As the leader of their own business, they can build relationships with customers in various roles and throughout various industries. Account Managers have the unique ability to manage themselves, their business, and their recruiting team.

Once proving yourself as a successful salesperson and developer of team members, your career path is virtually endless. We have new divisions to be opened, teams to be started, accounts to be broken and future offices to grow. You can continue to dominate in sales or pursue roles in leadership!
